

FIFTH ARMY GAINS ON BEACHHEAD

Americans Stage Greatest Aerial Attacks of War

Blast Frankfurt, Western Germany

By W. W. HERCHER
LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The greatest number of American fighter sorties ever made from British bases was flown today in support of another mighty Flying Fortress smash at Frankfurt and other targets in Western Germany and renewed attacks by Liberators and Mustangs on the coast of North France.

Thirty-five enemy planes were destroyed during the day's big operations by the Americans and about three of them were victims of the swarm of escorting fighters. Five United States bombers and fifteen fighters, one of them British, were lost.

More Than 700 Fighters

In describing the record workout by Thunderbolts, Liberators and Mustangs the army did not specify the number of fighters in the air, but it must have exceeded the 700 which accompanied a record force of 800 bombers on the Jan. 29 attack on Frankfurt, important manufacturing and communications center of Southwest Germany.

The increasing numerical strength of American escort planes has been particularly noticeable in the number of kills credited to fighters on their first missions.

Bag 55 Nazi Planes

On Thursday's 450-mile strike at Brunswick they destroyed fifty-five Nazi interceptors, a record bag for a single day, and in the last six major operations have accounted for 130 of the 177 enemy aircraft destroyed.

A Berlin broadcast tonight referring to the Brunswick attack said "American fighter escort was on an unprecedented scale."

Roosevelt and Others Regard Outlook in Italy as Serious

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The president's description of the struggle for the beachhead today as very tense capped a series of less official indications that the Allied position there is serious.

However, authorities here gave no indication that they consider the beachhead struggle hopeless. They look for better weather to assist the Allied cause although such hopes were dashed temporarily today by news that Allied warplanes in the area had been grounded by a blinding rain storm.

Two Terms Enough, Says Gov. Bricker

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—John W. Bricker, hitting at Democratic talk of a fourth term for President Roosevelt, called today for a constitutional amendment limiting White House tenure to a maximum of eight years.

Closing out a three-day national fiscal visit, aimed frankly by friends at advancing his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, the towering, gray-haired Ohio governor addressed some 400 newsmen and guests at a National Press Club luncheon.

Record Cargo Convoy Reaches North Africa

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The biggest ordinary cargo convoy ever to put to sea—at one time numbering 148 ships spread over seventy square miles—has reached North African ports from Britain without loss or damage, it was announced today.

New Gyro Compass Helps American Pilots in Locating their Targets

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Flying Fortresses are finding their way to targets in Germany with a new gyro flux-gate compass which enables navigators to get instant bearings high in the sky.

This delicate device, in use for some time, was disclosed tonight only after it was known that several had fallen into German hands. It is believed, however, that the Germans will be unable to duplicate it in time for use in this war.

The navigation officer at one heavy bomber base said that, for one thing, the compass eliminates wavering of the needle due to movements of the plane.

Teamwork Pleases Knox:

12 Jap Ships Sunk by Submarines, Many Nips Doomed to Starvation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Navy submarines have destroyed another dozen Japanese ships, a new triumph blow in the United States campaign to wipe out enemy forces in "selected" spots and outflank them into starvation elsewhere.

Secretary Knox disclosed the sinkings in a communique and then held a news conference in which he told with enthusiasm about the progress of the Pacific war.

Pleased with Results

He spoke of the Marshalls islands campaign as "the most splendid example" of co-ordinated air, sea and ground forces.

The drive into this Japanese stronghold was not island-hopping, said Knox. It worked like this: American forces stabbed into the "selected" spots they wanted. Outflanked, Japanese garrisons on the other islands were helpless. Now they can "hang on to the vine."

Wallace Suggests Another Bureau

"Jobs Authority" Needed, He Says

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 11 (AP)—Vice President Henry A. Wallace tonight proposed the establishment of a Jobs Authority or Jobs Council made up of the very best minds in government, business and labor drafted by the president to get full employment of resources and skill for the postwar period.

Speaking at a rally sponsored by a group of Wisconsin liberals who said they represented no political party, Wallace said whether there would be a Jobs Authority or Jobs Council set up would depend upon the attitude of the public.

"A Jobs Authority," he declared, would have responsibility and power, subject only to the president and Congress, to get full employment of resources and skills. A Jobs Council would not have authority but would merely advise the Congress, the president and the public with regard to several alternative types of action which Congress, the president or business might use to prevent unemployment before it actually takes place.

Nimitz Reports Attack on Wake

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 11 (AP)—Coronado bombers of Fleet Air Wing Two struck Wake Island for the second straight day while warships of the Pacific fleet and army planes continued their relentless pounding of Japanese-held Marshall Islands, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

Heavy divebombers and fighters of the Seventh American Army Air Force dropped more than a hundred tons of explosives on unnamed atolls in the Marshalls yesterday without drawing any fighter opposition.

$100,603,000,000 Paid in Wages Last Year

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—American workers pocketed a record $100,603,000,000 in wages last year, nearly $21,000,000,000 more than in 1942 and $28,000,000,000 more than in 1939.

The Commerce department, reporting this tonight, said today income payments amounted to $141,717,000,000 compared with $115,480,000,000 a year earlier and $82,578,000,000 in 1929.

Foreign Oil Needed, Says Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The United States, President Roosevelt said today, can no longer depend on domestic oil wells for all the petroleum it needs, and must now turn elsewhere for additional supplies.

We need petroleum from outside for this war, if it keeps on going and for the future, he said.

Sen. Bridges Weds

ST. PAUL, Feb. 11 (AP)—United States Senator Styles Bridges, of Concord, N. H., and Miss Dolores Thorswald, of St. Paul, were married at a private wedding in the Lutheran Church of the Reformation here today.

More Nazi Units Trapped in East

By TOM YARBROUGH
LONDON, Saturday, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Red army yesterday captured the Ukrainian railway center of Shepetovka, a distributing point for German reserves during the last two years, Moscow announced today while far to the east other Russian troops forced trapped Nazi units back into a twenty-square-mile "ring of death" and killed 2,600 of their dwindling forces.

Large quantities of war material and many prisoners were taken in the capture of Shepetovka where the Germans, aided by fresh reserves, an assault force of 120 tanks and armored trains, struggled vainly to hold the town.

On Rail Mainline

Not only is Shepetovka on the mainline from Berdichev to Warsaw, but on two other lines lead into Rumania and Hungary. It is less than sixty miles north of the last main German supply railroad to the Dniester bend—the Odessa-Lwow line.

Both the Moscow midnight bulletin and a Russian war correspondent's account, recorded by the Soviet monitor, gave details of the capture announced earlier by Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin in a special order of the day.

Germans outside the Soviet lines pounded with tanks and infantry in hopes of driving through a relief corridor to their trapped companions. The Russians, however, said these attacks were successfully repulsed.

Attack Nazis in Rear

These accounts said Shepetovka was a large German supply base and important stronghold in the Nazi defense system. Armored trains shuttled in and out to cover approaches from the north and west. The Russians first took the Germans in the rear and from the west while other units attacked head-on the strongest fortifications in the east. Artillery and mortars ground down the opposition. German counter-attacks were beaten and the town was regained.

Stalin, addressing Gen. Nikolai P. Vatutin, commander of the First Ukrainian front, praised the troops and ordered a Moscow victory salute of twelve salvoes from 124 guns in celebration.

24 Lives Lost in Plane Crash

MEMPHIS, Feb. 11 (AP)—A giant American Airlines plane crashed into the choppy Mississippi river last night, carrying twenty-four persons to their deaths in the worst blow to civilian aviation since 1940.

Salvage crews abandoned hope early tonight of finding many of the bodies in the passenger section. The coast guard and United States engineers were recovering pieces of the plane bit by bit along with mail and luggage, indicating that the ship was torn apart when it hit the water.

Arrangements to continue the search throughout the night were made by the coast guard and engineers with patrol of the waters extended down river in the hope of finding some of the bodies.

Fifteen hours after the tragedy, the job of lifting the big transport—probably still holding the bodies of its victims—was just getting underway in the twenty-two-foot channel.

Australian Source Says British Will Fight in Pacific

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Reuters said tonight in a dispatch from Canberra, Australia, that it had been stated authoritatively there that British troops will be fighting in the Southwest Pacific before the European war ends.

The dispatch added that Britons will take their places alongside Australian and amplified American forces irrespective of the war's position in Europe.

Two U. S. Nurses Slain by Nazis

Field Hospital Struck by Shells

By REYNOLDS PACKARD
Representing the Combined American Press (Distributed by the Associated Press)

AT THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD IN ITALY, Feb. 11 (AP)—Four German shells landing on an American field hospital which was carefully marked with Red Cross flags both on the tents and spread on the ground killed two women nurses, wounded four medical officers and wounded three enlisted men.

This makes a total of six American women nurses killed on this beachhead since the landings three weeks ago tomorrow.

The other three American women nurses were killed during the German air bombing of an American evacuation hospital a few days ago. Four shells landed last evening beginning at 5:30 p. m. and ending at 5:45 p. m. The first one hit the road in front of the receiving tent, the second shell hit the receiving tent and the last two went through the war tents.

Kirke L. Simpson Says:

Weather Hampers Allies in Italy, But New Dunkirk Seems Unlikely

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Although official uneasiness over the plight of British and American troops holding the Anzio beachhead below Rome is reflected in London and Washington, it falls short of any real apprehension that another Allied Dunkirk is impending.

Bad weather seriously limits the effectiveness of Allied air power, the weapon chiefly relied upon to expand the surprise landing operations, it does not similarly nullify Allied sea power. Rain or no rain, the guns of the British Mediterranean fleet hold a veto power over Nazi attempts to drive the beachhead garrison into the sea.

That is meagre comfort to draw from a situation in the Italian campaign so recently bright with possibilities that a German retreat up the peninsula to abandon Rome might result from the sea borne flanking attack.

There is no authoritative version yet of just what happened other than an ill-omened change in the weather to turn a promising Allied offensive drive from the sea into a defensive siege.

The mighty Russian offensive that is assembling German armies in the east gained new momentum, however, Moscow announces capture of Shepetovka junction by troops of the first Ukrainian army. Its fall opened new routes for Russian attacks southwestward to cut the Odessa-Warsaw railway and leave the whole Nazi southern flank in Russia trapped against the Rumanian border.

Food Subsidies Shouted Down In the Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Shouting down a compromise food stamp plan and counter-proposals to relax wage controls, the Senate approved by a vote of 43 to 28 today a flat ban against government payment of subsidies to hold down consumer food prices.

The measure now goes to the House which is expected to approve Senate amendments and send the bill along to the White House where a presidential veto almost certainly awaits it. The real test on continuation of the question of overriding Mr. Roosevelt's veto.

Provisions of Bill

As passed by the Senate, the bill would ban payment of consumer subsidies after June 30. Through such payments, the government has "rolled back" butter prices five cents a pound and cut prices of some meats three or four cents a pound. Other commodities under consumer subsidies, directly or indirectly, include coffee, flour and milk. Currently, they are costing about $1,000,000,000 a year.

The House approved a subsidy ban last November by a vote of 278 to 117—more than the two-thirds vote required to override a veto. If Mr. Roosevelt rejects the bill, the question of overriding will be up to the House first.

Compromise Plan Fails

The compromise "stamp plan" was sponsored by Senators Aiken (R-Vt.) and La Follette (Prog-Wis.) and argued over it consumed most of today's session. They proposed $500,000,000 a year expenditure on a program whereby families with low incomes would be given stamps good for food purchases—in effect subsidizing them but not persons of larger income.

Senator Barkley (D-Ala.), leader of the Senate anti-subsidy bloc, said he had no objection to this proposal, but when put to a vote it was rejected, 46 to 29.

Cold Shoulder from Tokyo: Japanese Government Ignores U. S. Official Protests to Many Atrocities

By TOM REEDY
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Japanese government has adopted an attitude of cold disregard for American protests of its savagery toward war prisoners. This became apparent tonight as the State department revealed that Tokyo officially received its damning denunciations and hasn't even bothered to reply.

Undersecretary Edward R. Stettinius told a news conference the Swiss government had confirmed delivery of two messages from Secretary Hull to the Japanese—6,000 words of bitter recrimination, accounts of torture and murder, starvation and bestiality.

Calls Story a Fake
The Tokyo radio has said only that the whole horror story—the death march from Bataan—was a fake, designed to lift American morale and cover up American misdeeds. There never has been an official government statement delivered to the United States. There is no indication that the State department expects to get one, now.

The United States protests were sent January 27 to our legation at Bern. They conceivably could have cleared through the Swiss to the Tokyo government in a matter of hours, and it is likely that the Japanese have had two weeks to ponder their reply, if they intend to make any.

Meanwhile, relatives of the men who fought to the end in the Philippines, only to undergo a living death after that at the hands of tormentors, carried their burden to Capitol Hill.

These people, formed into the federated organizations for Bataan Relief, came to the Senate Military committee with a plea that "aid somehow be gotten to the boys." They also urged that the heroes of Bataan be promoted and given automatic insurance.

Much of Nation Swept by Storm

By The Associated Press
Heavy snowstorms swirling over the mid-Atlantic and Northeast states and sub-zero cold in the Midwest brought the most severe weather of the winter to a large section of the United States last night.

With the Midwest already buried under a snow fall ranging up to eleven inches, the storm was general east of Chicago and especially heavy in the Northeast. Snow and freezing rain lashed the area from Southern New Jersey south to Atlanta.

Four Deaths Reported
Three deaths in Illinois and one in Indiana were attributed to the storm. Planes were grounded in Chicago and New York. Trains were delayed, highway travel impeded and schools in many Midwestern states closed.

At New York, where the snow was expected to reach a depth of eight to twelve inches, Mayor F. H. La Guardia reported a coal shortage so "critical" that only health department certificates could be honored. Although handicapped by manpower shortage, the city mobilized 7,000 workers and all available equipment for snow removal.

Storm Warnings Posted
Storm warnings were posted along the Atlantic coast from Eastport to Block Island. The weather bureau at Boston issued a special warning predicting 10 inches of snow and high winds.

Throughout the Northeast the snowfall was expected to end during the night to be followed by much colder weather. Temperatures hovered in the twenties in most of the states throughout yesterday.

Only by lavish expenditures of infantry has the enemy been able to gain ground," wrote Bigart. "The fierce butchery of the past four days has been severe on two German units. Some companies have been reduced to a mere handful of men. Our ammunition reserves are considerable. Some British units have been engaged in the grimmest kind of fighting for eight days."

Landis Explains Players' Status

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—Kensaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, announced tonight that club owners in professional baseball would not ask for preferential draft treatment of their players during the war.

The commissioner's statement was occasioned by the exchange of published correspondence between Stephen Early, Secretary of President Roosevelt, and J. G. T. Spink of St. Louis, publisher of Sporting News, a weekly paper devoted chiefly to baseball. Spink sought an expression from the White House on the game's future during the war.

Listed as Missing, AP Correspondent Shows Up with Story of Wild Flight

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11 (AP)—One listed as among the missing, Dean Schieder, 29, Associated Press war correspondent and one of the last men to leave Corregidor, returned today and told a vivid story of how he escaped in a dilapidated plane using gasoline natives stole from the Japanese.

In a dilapidated, patched up small training plane, Schieder, Lieut. Perry Franks and Capt. Charles Sneed left Corregidor at dawn April 11, 1942.

"We knew we had enough gasoline for about 300 miles. We flew about 275 miles blind. We saw a tiny dot below us. Unable to know whether it was Jap controlled or American, we took a chance and leveled off for a landing."

Hand-to-Hand Battle Rages Near Carrocelo

Germans Offering Bitter Resistance

By EDWARD KENNEDY
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ANZIO, Feb. 11 (AP)—Attacking during a wild storm that swept the battlefield with deluges of rain, Fifth army troops fighting on the Anzio beachhead were reported to have advanced slightly in fierce hand-to-hand battles with the Germans in the Carrocelo area.

A dispatch from Norman Clark, representing the combined British press, said the Allies, who had been reported hard-pressed by numerically superior German forces, "returned to the attack this morning" and advanced in the Carrocelo area during the day.

Battle in Gale
When the attack began, Allied artillery laid down a heavy barrage during a gale that reached hurricane force, uprooting trees and accompanied by rain turning the country side into fields of mud.

Clark said the Germans were offering bitter resistance "defying calls of surrender and are only being ousted by the grenade and bayonet."

Further south in the Cassino battle area a dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Lynn Heinzerling said American doughboys fighting in rain, hail and sleet were inching their way up the hills overlooking Cassino "in a gallant effort to bring a quick end to the bloody house-to-house fighting in the shambles of Cassino below," and to break through to highway six, the road to Rome in an effort to relieve the hard-pressed Anzio beachhead troops.

Advance within Town
In the town itself American troops were reported to have moved forward slightly. Losses on both sides in the bitter fighting were reported heavy.

The West Virginia Political Contests

SOME PRETTY HOT CONTESTS are predicted for the primary and general elections in West Virginia in an interesting editorial in the Hampshire Review, of Romney.

"The Democratic fight in the May primary," it says, "may be chiefly between former Senator Rush D. Holt and former Attorney General, now Judge, Clarence E. Meadows. Both are honest men, clean in their private lives and both presentable in personal appearance."

"Meadows probably will have the support of the state and national administrations, which, against anyone other than Rush Holt, would assure his nomination. But Rush is a precedent-breaker and a Tartar on the stump. He is of the crusading type and will shake the scrub-brush on all the hillsides of the state in his search for votes. It will be a horse race, maybe a photofinish."

With this conclusion there can be easy agreement; but as for the other side of the fence the Review's observations seem to call for a further bit of clarification.

"Not so with the Republican contest between Boone Dawson and Raymond J. Funkhouser," the Review continues. "While the latter will be running on O'Sullivan (which company he owns) heels, he will make more noise than if shot with hobbled shoes. His publicity man on the radio, Leon Henderson, is alleged to have said that Funkhouser 'is the world's greatest salesman' and Henderson knows President Roosevelt, too. Funkhouser is unorthodox, politically, and, perhaps, in other ways. He is a go-getter from Gettersville. He will walk off with the Republican nomination."

"The fall fight, should it be between Rush and Raymond, will be a campaign that will put the state in the spotlight. And all this because the Democratic leaders ignored our suggestion of backing Col. Louis A. Johnson."

Johnson, Clarksburg lawyer, is the former assistant secretary of war, who voluntarily resigned because he couldn't go along with things as they were at the time.

This newspaper can agree with the Review that a scrap between Funkhouser and Holt would be a hot thing; but it needs a bit of enlightenment as to the conclusion that the former will "walk off with the Republican nomination." With due respect to possibilities, which have some footing in view of his race for the federal senatorial nomination, it would be interesting to learn whether there is something not as yet discernible which makes the Review's cocksure about that result, or whether that is just a wish that is son of a Democratic thought, to paraphrase an old saying.

But, however the final heat in the fall may be, it is this newspaper's guess that the Republican nominee, whoever he may be, will "walk off" with the election, this being predicated upon the recent trend of political thought in the state, which seems to have lost none of the impetus markedly by the terrific lambasting Governor Neely received at the last election and the succeeding slams administered by the state legislature.

Lincoln, Antithesis Of the New Dealers

LINCOLN has outlasted the hates of history. That is one of the remarkable attributes of his memory. South of the Mason-Dixon line Americans still regard Brown as a madman and Sherman as a marauder, but to most southerners the figure of Lincoln looms larger year by year, just as year by year celebration of his birthday deepens popular affection for him.

Some democratic instinct is responsible for this, not to be analyzed offhand. Somehow the nation has been brought to feel that Lincoln personified man's love of liberty and man's aspiration to prove the practicability of self-government.

Lincoln was the antithesis of a New Dealer. His concept of liberty was not collective. That idea is Marx, not Lincoln. Lincoln laid to the oar not to free the slaves, but to free the slave. Lincoln caught almost clairvoyantly the absolutely essential element preservation of physical national unity was to the continuation of the adventure of self-government here.

There had been democracies the survival of which followed the pattern of their smallness and inconsequence. Here was a self-governed nation—a republic—which was large and consequential. It could be powerless only at the peril of its existence. The success of secession would have struck down history's one great attempt at the republican principle.

Lincoln's intellectual equal, Greeley, would have let the erring states go in peace. Lincoln, with a deeper instinct, barred the way and in saving the union saved the republic. Not since the death of the Great Emancipator has the need for a return to his principles at Washington been as great as it is today.

News of the Campaign For Our Fighters

ROSCOE DRUMMOND, staff correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, reports from Washington that the United States Army today is laying elaborate plans and perfecting its organization to report the 1944 political campaign to soldiers abroad on a scale never heretofore undertaken.

Preparations are being made to give extensive textual coverage to the major speeches and to report thoroughly the trend of debate on the principle issues and the political developments.

Even now the War department is carrying out a news operation probably more far-flung in its scope than anything an independent newspaper or press association ever has performed, Drummond says, adding that by the time the elections take place it will have a potential reading and listening public overseas of fully 5,000,000 American troops.

This is as it should be, but, as Drummond points out, the vital question behind this vast and needful service is whether the news is going out and will go out fairly and faithfully reported without bias and without distortion in emphasis and content.

Perhaps if left solely to the army and the navy, that will be the case; but if there is interference from the executive branch, which seems to have an itching interest in the subject, it will not. Perhaps it would be well for the Congress to issue some sort of directive about this work.

The Blue Streak Is Coming Home

AMERICAN CIVILIANS are soon to see the greatest American bomber of them all. From Italy where Blue Streak, a B-24 Liberator, recently completed its one hundred and tenth mission, this veteran of 1,056 combat hours will be flown to the United States for a long rest, where it may receive the homage due the most distinguished plane of the Three Hundred and Seventy-sixth bombardment group.

Blue Streak, with a green crew, was assigned to action early in 1942. Nineteen months later it had completed 110 missions, during which it shot down twenty-three enemy planes, sank three war vessels, bombed Rome's supply lines, Naples's docks, Rome's railway yards, Nazi air bases in Greece. Its first mission was the toughest. One of thirteen bombers to attack the Rumanian oil fields, it was one of four which returned.

During all this high adventure many things happened to Blue Streak. It wore out or had shot away nineteen engines, two wings, a rudder and required an unlimited amount of patching. To its very great credit it never lost a member of its crew.

Now it is coming home, proudly wearing all its service stripes, perhaps a bit scarred but still unafraid. And if a turn in the fortunes of war should call the Blue Streak back to duty, it will be off and away to resume its deadly role in the sky.

Those who shout "Hang Hirohito!" should be reminded that help is still needed in the job of capturing him.

Americans are demonstrating their anger over Japanese atrocities in a practical way by buying war bonds.

Hitler has called on Rumania to hold to the end. But a lot of Rumanians think the end has already arrived.

The Quail around Our House

By MARSHALL MASLIN
When I wake of a morning I hear the quail calling in our canyon, calling to the sun, calling to others. And it seems to me a sweeter song than the call of a nightingale in a perfumed garden. . . . And when I come home at night, sometimes I see them walking on our sidewalk, quaint and sedate and at home in our neighborhood.

There are cats and dogs and small boys in our part of town, but the quail have not gone away from us. We have electric lights and telephones and radios and automobiles and other modern conveniences where we live and you would hardly expect to find the little quail as neighbors to our modern lives.

But there they are, calling in the morning, visiting us by day, roosting at night in our trees. . . . Sometimes a cat crouches low and slithers along the ground, fiercely leaps and murders one of the friendly small fellows. But I think they accept this tragedy as part of their life amongst us. Even in the wilds where no man lives, there are mink and weasel and wildcats to steal their eggs and kill their young snatch the older ones away. . . . So our quail accept their tragic chances better than we human beings do. Not bitterness darkens their lives.

And I look upon the presence of the quail as a fair compliment to us. This canyon is their home and we have not driven them from it. They make a life for themselves alongside of us and are quietly content. . . . The blue jays that have pre-empted our bay trees are not so unassuming. They yell at the cat and shatter the quiet with their loud disputes. I like them but have no such affection for them as I have the dumpy little quail who have accepted us as we are and have no talent for abuse.

If the bright blue jays ever leave us I would be sorry, although my regret would not be inconsolable. But if our quail should depart forever, I would not cease from wishing for their return and would feel that we, poor human creatures, had failed in some blundering way to do our part to make life bearable for those feathered friends.

Change of Policy By Labor Leaders On Wages Is Seen

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The food subsidy fight marks a new phase in the relation between labor leaders and the administration. Last year the labor leaders said to the Administration, in effect, "We must have higher wage rates, because the cost of food has gone up." The administration replied in effect: "Please don't insist on higher wage rates; we'll keep the cost of food down by subsidies." The labor leaders seemed to accept the suggestion, and became the chief pressure group in favor of food subsidies.

Thereupon the administration put food subsidies into effect—a typical example is five cents a pound on butter. The administration was able to do this by use of money already appropriated by Congress for broad purposes. But when Congress said this money being used for subsidies it objected. The House last fall, by a vote of 278 to 117, passed a bill which would end subsidies. (Substantially the same bill before the Senate this week.)

Demand Higher Wages Too

The labor leaders, while continuing the demand for food subsidies, took a new and advanced stand toward the administration. They said that they must have higher wage rates anyhow. Toward this President Roosevelt adopted a new tactic. He appointed a committee to study the cost of living, with five members, two of them labor leaders.

Before this committee could conclude its work it has not concluded yet, the labor leaders on the committee gave out a conclusion of their own. They said the cost of living had increased 43.5 per cent. Along with this position, the labor leaders took action to get increases in wage rates. Demands for increases are urgently pressed upon the War Labor Board, many strikes are under way or threatened.

The present attitude of the administration is two-sided. Washington gives the administration credit for real determination to prevent rises in wages and in cost of living—to prevent inflation. At the same time Washington thinks the administration is reluctant to resist labor firmly—Washington remembers the administration's concession to Mr. John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers.

Lower Percentage Expected

"For the near future, Washington expects the administration to wait for a report from its committee on cost of living. Washington assumes the report will say there has been an increase—but no such increase as the 43.5 per cent the labor leaders say. Possibly the figure arrived at by the committee may be close to the figure heretofore given out by the official government source, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which is 23.4 per cent."

In the light of such a report, if it comes, the administration conceivably might grant a general rise in wage rates, corresponding to whatever is the committee's report on increase in cost of living. But that would come close to losing the administration's fight against inflation. For a general increase in wage rates would be followed by corresponding demands by farmers for increase in prices of food crops, by manufacturers and dealers in all sort of goods for higher prices.

Will Press Subsidy Fight

Whatever the administration does about a general increase in wage rates, it is certain to keep up the fight for food subsidies—either as a complete substitute for increase in wage rates or as a partial substitute limiting the increase in wage rates.

In the long run, probably the administration can win its fight for food subsidies, or get a compromise permitting limited use. The president can veto an act of Congress forbidding subsidies. In spite of the immense majorities in Congress against subsidies, probably there would not be the two-thirds majority necessary to overcome a presidential veto.

THE FORGOTTEN FREEDOM

Denial of Reply on Radio to Roosevelt Speech Prompts Plan for Commission

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Both President Roosevelt and the Republican party leaders have a definite interest in seeing to it that the coming campaign is fairly conducted. It is not enough to assure the soldiers of a federal ballot or a state ballot or both. It is important that the news that reaches them from this country shall not be colored by the War or Navy departments or by the office of war information.

It would certainly not help the cause of unity in the United States if the president permitted his position as commander-in-chief of the army and navy to be used to forward his fourth-term candidacy. If he is elected as a result of the use of government communication facilities and the sending of political propaganda through such facilities it will produce ill feeling after the election.

"I have sought to name only the parent bureaus, no attempt having been made to list the offspring. According to the federal register and the most reliable information I can secure, there were 224 of these agencies, bureaus and commissions on June 11, 1943. To list them would require 50 pages. Listing the bureaus and departments having the right to undertake real estate transactions alone developed into a research project. The report covers 80 typewritten pages and shows 96 such bureaus in the present government set-up. Most of them, tax-exempt, are competing with each other and with tax-paying insurance companies, banks, building and loan companies and private capital."

"This list was secured by reading newspapers and magazines and is as nearly complete and accurate as I could get. . . . I also endeavored to get the total annual appropriations of all the bureaus, but met with the reply that it would 'take several months and cost many thousands of dollars' to dig up the financial cost."

The cry, "write to the servicemen," will be heard again and again. Also it is not yet clear what the armed services are going to do about political discussions.

Number Already Active

Not a few of the persons in uniform now overseas have been active in either federal or state or local politics. It is their habit to talk politics or to try to convert their friends to their way of thinking. What will the attitude of the War and Navy departments be toward officers or enlisted men who try to make votes for their favorite candidate? This will be especially important if any particular day is selected for voting overseas and if the officers who order the men to march to the polls say anything about their own views on politics.

It will be an embarrassing situation to handle, and it would be desirable for the War and Navy departments, when once the presidential nominees have been chosen, to issue a warning about keeping politics out of the mess halls and the meeting places and letting each individual make up his own mind on how to vote or even about voting at all. There should be no get-out-the-vote pressure among the troops and sailors overseas.

Restrictive Trend

From the Altoona, Pa., Tribune

According to the National Industrial Conference Board, private debt was reduced by almost two billion dollars during 1942, with a further reduction likely in 1943. Meanwhile, public spending and public debt soared to dizzy heights. This is a continuance of a trend that has been in evidence for more than a decade. The initiative and productive capacities of private citizens have been increasingly displaced by government. War has greatly speeded the trend. If you happen to be a socialist, you will be cheered by the prospects. But if you believe in private enterprise and the superiority of individual opportunity, you will look upon expanding centralized government with a chill.

Shrinking private debts mean that fewer new enterprises are being launched by individuals. Opportunity and savings are not available to start anything new; old, established industries are not expanding with private capital. In short, it means if the trend continues there will be fewer jobs in private industry, which is the same as saying there will be more and more jobs on the government payroll.

After the war, the purse strings must be drawn on the public spender or they will tax away our initiative and our freedom.

A movement has been started among the states to limit the taxing power of the federal government. Fifteen state legislatures have passed resolutions for a constitutional amendment to restrict federal income and inheritance taxes in peacetime to twenty-five per cent. Such an amendment would not take away the power of the government to levy taxes for needed revenue. It would take away the power to destroy taxpaying industries.

This world has cares enough to plague us, but he who meditates on others' woes, shall, in that meditation, lose his own.—CUMBERLAND.

Russia Is Expected To Settle Its Own Western Border

By CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON—Hands off the U.S.S.R.
Russia's rejection of the United States offer to mediate her dispute with the Polish government in exile re-emphasizes Stalin's position that he will not tolerate international "meddling" in the "internal" affairs of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

The Soviet action has made it abundantly clear that Russia intends settling her post-war western borders by unilateral action, rather than at any international peace table.

Diplomats in Washington and London are now watching for indications that Stalin will insist on permanent incorporation of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, as well as areas of Poland west of the Curzon Line, and some portion of Finland. There is a distinct possibility also that Russia will make claim to some parts of the Balkans.

While there are many arguments favoring the Soviet Union's position, diplomats are nonetheless disturbed over the outcome of the first test of the agreements reached at Moscow by United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull, and a Tehran by President Roosevelt.

"In some quarters it is contended that the Soviet attitude cannot be 'localized' to the Polish incident, but that it is a manifestation of a general policy which runs counter to the United Nations' concept of the treatment to be accorded European nations overrun by Nazi Germany."

It is because of this reaction of Europe's governments in exile that American and British diplomats are so deeply concerned with the Soviet's stand.

Japs Weaken in Air

The most amazing part of the Pacific war to date lies in the fact that Allied airmen have been able to win important victories against the Japs with comparatively few fighter planes and bombers.

For instance, a "big raid" in the Southwest Pacific is one in which 200 bombers of all types are used. A "reluctant" dogfight in the skies is one where fifteen or thirty United States fighters tackle fifty to seventy-five Jap pursuits.

Another example is that the use of fifty fighters in one assault against the Marshalls has been considered a major raid so far. Yet the Japs have been unable to send aloft enough strength to stop these assaults.

Some observers believe the Jap high command is holding back some of its air strength for more important battles. Others are just as certain the Nips already have lost aerial superiority.

The real test of Japanese stamina will come when the European war is over and Allied forces are able to bring many thousands instead of mere scores of planes against Japanese installations and cities.

Army airmen are looking forward to the day when they can begin dropping hundreds of tons of bombs on Tokyo in a repetition of the Berlin blitzes.

Points-by-Mail Plan Considered

O.P.A. men are talking about mailing all ration coupons, certificates and books from central issuance stations—the future—to minimize thefts and to take the burden of handling off local boards and district and regional O.P.A. authorities.

The plan already has been put into effect on a small scale for gasoline, and O.P.A. now hopes to reach a point where it will be mailing all gasoline coupons from some 100 heavily guarded issuance stations throughout the country.

It is hoped this will cut down thefts of gasoline coupons from local boards, a situation which has been of serious annoyance to O.P.A. ever since the rationing program began.

Fuel oil coupons, shoe coupons, and even food stamps would be included in the plan if its O.P.A. sponsors have their way. This would mean that consumers would no longer have to go to school houses or other public places of issuance for their stamps. There is, however, an element of opposition within the agency to broadening the mailing program, and the final decision is yet to be made.

Factographs

A new scaffold-type extra deck enables a modern tanker to carry a load of extra freight the equivalent of 10 per cent of its normal load capacity.

Oil pressed from kernels of the Babassu palm, native of Brazil, has recently been "discovered" as fuel for internal combustion engines.

New Guinea is second to Greenland among the world's islands in size, since Australia is classified as a continent.

Argentina's two oldest cities, San Juan and Mendoza, were founded in 1561-62 by colonists from Chile.

Babassu, a tall, fan-shaped Brazilian palm, provides oil that substitutes for olive oil in all its uses.

Francis D. T. Bowen Will Wed Geraldine Smith

Ceremony Will Be Performed Monday in Mewington, Conn.

Miss Geraldine Estelle Smith, daughter of Mrs. James W. Smith, Manchester, N. H., and Guilford, Conn., will become the bride of Lieut. Francis D. T. Bowen, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Bowen, 209 Washington street, this city, Monday.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at a low nuptial mass at 9 o'clock in the morning in St. Mary's Catholic church, Mewington, Conn., with the Rev. Father Clark officiating.

Mrs. Joan Gaucher, Montreal, Canada, will be matron of honor and Miss Smith's only attendant, Dr. Clarence Goebel, Hardington, Neb., will serve as Lieut. Bowen's best man.

The bride-elect has chosen a pale blue sheer wool suit for her wedding with which she will wear dark brown accessories. A corsage of orchids will complete her costume. The daughter of Mrs. Smith and the late Rev. James W. Smith, D. D., she attended Mt. St. Mary's College for Women, Hooksett, N. H., and was graduated from the University of New Hampshire, Durham, N. H.

litical issue but one in which all elements of citizenship must unite.

"They will have to find some other new name," Mundt said. "Nor do they need a new doctor," he added, suggesting an undertaker as being perhaps the more useful person.

Representative Mundt took up the case of those who say we might well settle things this time by having a fourth term and a Republican Congress.

That, he declared, would be voting for a stalemate in government with the danger of breaking down the whole structure.

Noting the presence of a number of Democrats in the gathering, Mundt complimented them for attending and declared it a fine example of the working representative government when people sought to learn the vital issues and reach decision by carefully weighing both sides.

Paul M. Fletcher, county chairman, also welcomed the Democratic guests in opening the program and hoped that their interest so manifested would enable them "to see the light."

Mundt was introduced to the audience by Representative J. Glenn Beall, who ridiculed the horse-swapping alibi used by the Fourth termers by saying that when one is stalled in the middle of a stream it is high time to have somebody pull him out. He also discredited the allegation from the Democratic side that the Old Guard is bossing the Republican minority in Congress by noting that those having the leading roles are the younger and aggressive members.

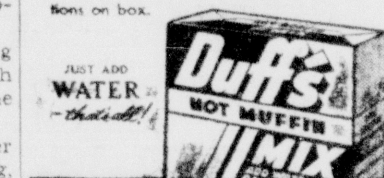

Fletcher introduced Morgan C.

Pillsbury's CARROT RAISIN BREAD

(DOUBLE-QUICK METHOD)

TEMPERATURE: 400° F. Makes 2 1-lb. loaves. TIME: about 40 minutes

1 cup milk, scalded

2 tablespoons sugar

1 tablespoon salt

1 1/2 tablespoons shortening

1 egg, well beaten

1 cake compressed yeast

1 cup lukewarm water

6 1/2 cups sifted PILLSBURY'S BEST ENRICHED FLOUR

2 cups raw carrots, grated

1 cup raisins

1 teaspoon cinnamon

1/4 teaspoon allspice

1/4 teaspoon cloves

1. Combine milk, sugar, salt, and shortening, stirring until dissolved. Cool to lukewarm. 2. Add egg; blend thoroughly. 3. Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Add yeast and remaining water to the cooled milk mixture. 4. Combine flour, carrots, raisins, and spices; add to yeast mixture, blending thoroughly. 5. Knead dough about 10 minutes. 6. Place dough in greased bowl; cover and allow to rise in a warm place (80° to 85° F.) about 1 1/2 hours or until dough fills the pan and center is well above top of pan (about 1 1/2 hours). 7. Punch dough down. Cover and allow to rise in a warm place about 1 1/2 hours. 8. Remove dough to lightly-floured board and flatten out. Divide into two pieces; mold into loaves; allow to stand, closely covered, for 15 minutes. Shape into loaves. 9. Place in greased 9x5x3-inch bread pans. Cut dough with scissors crosswise into about 12 slices, cutting each loaf as deeply as possible. Allow loaves to stand in a warm place until dough fills the pan and center is well above top of pan (about 1 1/2 hours). 10. Bake in hot oven (to prevent over-browning, cover loaves with brown paper after 1/2 hour of baking).

ABE LINCOLN RIDES WAR BOND CIRCUIT

By JACK SMITH
AP Features

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. — Tall, gaunt Abe Lincoln is touring the hills and dales of Pennsylvania again—this time in a rickety old car, as a star war bond salesman. The full name of this modern edition of Honest Abe is Abraham Lincoln Hite. But he looks so much like his namesake that most folks forget the "Hite" and just call him Lincoln.

Abe (Hite) dresses like Abe (Lincoln) is just about as tall and lanky. He has the same prominent cheek bones, bony nose and dreamy eyes. About the only main difference is that the beard and mole of Abe (Hite) are false.

Some admiring young ones in the grammar schools—to whom Hite has sold thousands of dollars in war stamps—seem to accept him as the original Abe.

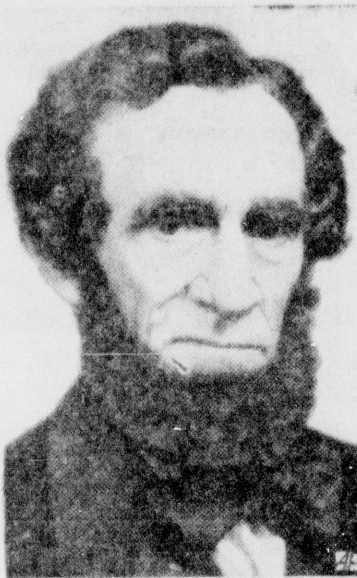

The Circuit Rider
Capitalizing on the similarity Hite, without benefit of Hollywood glamor and press agency, campaigned daily through the mountains and forests of Centre County between February and May of last year and sold $102,755.68 in stamps and bonds. He is campaigning again.

Hometown folks say he's the best unpublicized salesman in the War Bond business. Of his February-to-May total, $31,790.23 was in stamps sold to pupils of 67 schools. The rest went to oldsters.

Abe is a janitor at Pennsylvania State College. He is given leaves for his bond work, which he does voluntarily and without remuneration.

When he drives up to a school, the youngsters rush to the windows and shout "Here come Abe!" "Honest Abe!"

A program generally follows, with a child reciting the Gettysburg Address and pupils sitting in awe while the living image of Lincoln gives an inspirational talk. When he doesn't

A program generally follows, with a child reciting the Gettysburg Address and pupils sitting in awe while the living image of Lincoln gives an inspirational talk. When he doesn't have enough stamps for the demand he takes the children's money and delivers their purchases later on a return trip. There's no question of not trusting "Honest Abe."

The children may someday grieve to learn that Hite really wasn't named directly for the Great Emancipator.

"I was born in Roaring Spring, Pa.," he says, "and our doctor was Dr. Abraham Lincoln Garber. I was named after him."

"It wasn't until I grew up that people started telling me I looked like Lincoln. Our barber once said, 'Abe, never have your hair cut short. Mr. Lincoln didn't.'"

So Abe doesn't either, now.

Approximately 100 discharged servicemen are now working at jobs of their own choosing through efforts of the city's new servicemen's placement advisory board.

War Mail to Prisoners of Germany Must Be Free of Patriotic Slogans

Postmaster Shriver Says
Themes Will Be Banned
by Nazis March 1

Mail addressed to American prisoners of war held in prison camps under German control will not be delivered if it bears patriotic themes or slogans intended to promote our war effort.

Such was an announcement made yesterday by James C. Shriver, Cumberland postmaster.

This information has been received from Germany through Swiss intermediate channels and the regulation becomes effective on March 1.

Shriver said that all such mail will be condemned without the prisoner being advised. This information also has been confirmed by representatives of the American Red Cross in Switzerland.

Slogans Unwanted

Included among the slogans which the Germans don't like are "Win the War," "V for Victory," "Buy U. S. Savings Bonds—Ask Your Postmaster," "Buy War Savings Stamps and Bonds," and postage stamps having patriotic themes such as "For Defense" and "Win the War."

Letters properly enveloped and sealed and postal cards addressed to a prisoner of war should be placed by the sender in an outer unsealed envelope which requires no postage and addressed "Postmaster Prisoner of War Mail," Shriver said. The letter will be removed from the outer envelope by postoffice employees and forwarded without postmarking. It then will be dispatched to New York for censorship.

Letters and cards may be handed to clerks at service windows at the postoffice without the outer unsealed envelope and when so received will likewise be forwarded without postmarking.

Since postage on letters and cards sent by air mail to prisoners of war held in Germany must be pre-paid, particular care should be exercised to see that postage stamps containing slogans are not used.

The so-called "Next of Kin" tag must be affixed to parcels sent to prisoners of war and must be prepared in accordance with the instructions.

Civilians interned in Germany also are covered by the regulations.

House Will Give Home Vegetable, Gardening Course

Classes Will Be Held in Central High School in Lonaconing

By MARIE MEERBACH
LONACONING, Feb. 11—James H. House, co-ordinator of food production war training, announces that a class in home vegetable gardening will be conducted in the Central high school, Lonaconing, beginning at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, February 15, with Mrs. Hilda M. Phillips as instructor in charge.

Home vegetable gardening is a part of the Food Production War Training program and Adult Education program sponsored by the Board of Education of Allegany county and the Vocational department of the State of Maryland.

The course is set up to last ten nights over a period of five weeks and class hours will be 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday nights. All persons interested in the production of vegetable crops and plants are invited to attend Tuesday night so that they can learn how this class is to be conducted and so that we may be able to determine the size of the class.

There is no registration fee nor any obligation for those taking the course. Literature will be available as a basis for discussion on vegetable gardening and related interests. Steps have been taken to make this class as practical as possible. Helpful information may be received from the personal experience of others, as co-operative effort will determine the success of the program.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, has approved the gardening course to be conducted at the school.

Personsals

Mervin E. Bray Dies At Home in Davis

Mineral County Native Was Motorman in Davis Coal Mines

By HELEN COLLETT
PARSONS, W. Va., Feb. 11—Mervin Ellis Bray, 42, died at his home in Davis on Tuesday night of complications following a lingering illness. He was formerly employed by the Davis Coal and Coke company as a motorman in the mines.

Mr. Bray was born in Mineral county, May 6, 1901, the son of John H. Bray and the late Anna Davis Bray of Davis. He was married twice and his first wife died ten years ago.

He is survived by his father, his second wife, the former Miss Erma Griffith, and the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Geneva Short, Pittsburg, Pa.; Miss Loretta Bray, Baltimore; Joan, Esther, Harry and William Bray, all at home.

Three sisters, Mrs. Wealthy Combs, Mrs. Nellie Lantz, both of Davis, and Miss Eva Bray, of Keyser, also survive.

Tax Offices To Be Here
County Agent A. L. Kidd announced that two representatives from the state income tax commission office will be in the court house in Parsons on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 17, 18 and 19 to help the farmers of this county in making out their income tax returns for the year. They will return later in the month to be in Thomas.

Brief Items
The Parsons Volunteer Fire Department was called to Hendricks on Thursday at 4 p. m. to extinguish a grass fire on the A. G. Frazier farm. Damage was small.

Miss Mary Rose DiMaio, R.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas DiMaio, of Thomas, has enlisted in the army nurses corps and will leave Tuesday for Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., for basic training in the Billings General hospital.

Michael O'Shea Took Latest Role Seriously

Michael O'Shea took his role for "Jack London," the Samuel Bronston production now at the Maryland theater, seriously. In order to reach that peak of physical trim which always marked the author-adventurer O'Shea trained like a prizefighter for weeks prior to starting work on the film.

Hiring a trainer to "urge" him along, O'Shea took workouts daily at the Hollywood "Y" with sand and punching bags. This was followed by a half hour of wrestling and judo with his husky trainer, prizefighter Johnny Indrisano. Every other day O'Shea hiked twenty miles through Hollywood hills with Indrisano by his side.

"Jack London" is the second picture in the series.

for the Hartford boy. He shares leading honors with lovely Susan Hayward who will be seen as Charmian London, wife of the author.

Plenty of Villains In New Tarzan Film

More varied and villainous than in any other Tarzan film are the assorted bad men with whom Johnny Weissmuller, Johnny Sheffield and their friends cope in "Tarzan's Desert Mystery," most thrilling of the popular series, now at the Liberty theater.

Menacing the "Ape Man" and a new, sultry brunette heroine, Nancy Kelly, are natives of the Sahara desert and Nazi plotters in various guises. Otto Kruger, Joseph Sawyer and some others of the screen's best-known and sinister "heavies" take the villain roles.

In the new Sol Lesser production for RKO Radio Tarzan ventures out of his relatively safe and beloved jungle on a perilous mission in the desert. He meets the heroine in the intrigue-torn Arabian city of Bir-Herari, where she poses as a stranded chorus girl. And aided by Boy, Cheta and chimpanzee, and a new animal member of the troupe, an Arab stallion, he is able to rescue the beautiful girl from deadly peril.

Miller Funeral Services Are Held

By MRS. EVA BEACHY
GRANTSVILLE, Feb. 11.—Funeral rites for Silas Miller, 73, who died February 5 at his home in Accident, were held Tuesday, February 8 from the Church of the Brethren, The Rev. A. D. Scroggins, pastor, officiated, and the Rev. Foster Bittinger, of Westernport, assisted. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Miller was the son of the late Rev. S. A. and Mrs. Anna Daniels Miller, of Cove. He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Nancy Baker, and the following sons: Bruce, of Accident; Loy, of Jennings; Charles, of Friendsville; Edison, of Grantsville; Daniel, of Baltimore; Samuel, of Frederick, and Harvey, stationed with the United States Army at Camp Pickett, Va.

Brief Mention

Dr. Alexander Soloska, of Salisbury, gave an address on "Russia" at the Rotary dinner meeting Tuesday night. Other guests included John Lichliter, Ernest Livengood, and the Rev. A. Jay Replogle, Salisbury, Pa., and Stewart Rodamer, Grantsville.

Mrs. O. J. Glotfelty entertained the Women's guild in the social room of the Evangelical and Reformed church Wednesday evening. Following the business and devotionals, conducted by Mrs. Robert Speicher and Mrs. Benny Epstein, refreshments were served.

The "World Day of Prayer" will be observed at the Evangelical and Reformed church Friday, February 25, for all denominations. Ministers and leaders of the various churches will participate in the program.

Miss Lillian Swauger, Jennings, has received a letter from Pfc. Lawrence Durst, stating that he and her brother, Pvt. George E. Swauger, met in Hawaii. Pvt. Swauger suffered a broken arm and several ribs in a fall.

Personals

Mrs. John Baum, of near here, is suffering from a sprained ankle due to a fall.

Doris Hummel, New Germany, is spending some time with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Shumaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Beachy have received word that their son, W. Blaine Beachy, has arrived in Australia.

Mrs. A. E. Walderman and daughter, of Roanoke, Va., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Miller.

Mrs. Harlene Brodson and children, Washington, D. C., are visiting her mother, Mrs. Wilse Blittinger.

Miss Jo Percell has been visiting relatives in South Boston, Va.

Mrs. Mollie Turner has returned to Baltimore after spending several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stanton.

FDR Asks $150,000,000 For Big War Areas

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Government construction of shops, stores and restaurants in war-congested areas is contemplated, was disclosed when President Roosevelt asked Congress for $150,000,000 additional for the Federal Works Administration.

Accompanying the president's request was a letter from Budget Director Harold D. Smith saying money is needed to alleviate conditions which are conducive to absenteeism in war plants.

"Smart Guy" Starts At Embassy Tomorrow

The Monogram production "Smart Guy," which opens tomorrow at the Embassy theater, is a story of how grown-ups' lives can be softened and altered by the affections of a young, freckle-faced lad. Rick Vallin in the title role, is a gambler accused of manslaughter who adopts the youngster, played by Bobby Larson, when he wants to sway public opinion in his favor. As it turns out, young Larson really "adopts" him, and changes his entire outlook on life.

Produced for Monogram by John T. Coyle, the story is an original one written by Harrison Jacobs, later adapted for the screen by John W. Kraft and Charles R. Marion.

Garden Presenting Western and Mystery

Currently playing at the Garden theater is "The Leather Burners," another in the Hopalong Cassidy series, starring William Boyd, Andy Clyde and Victor Jory.

The co-feature is "The Mysterious Doctor," a mystery starring John Loder, Eleanor Parker, Bruce Lester and Lester Matthews.

Another chapter of "Flying Cadets" rounds out the program.

Patterson Denies Draft Age Limit Will Be 45

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Robert P. Patterson, acting secretary of war, has denied a report that the army will raise the upper age limit for draftees from 38 to 45.

"So far as I know that's not true," he said in response to a question at a news conference.

"You recall that when the age limit was reduced from forty-five to thirty-eight in the fall of 1942, it was done as a result of army and navy experience that men in the higher age group were less effective."

"There are, of course, a good many men in the service above thirty-eight and a lot of them are perfectly fit, but to take them by and large is quite a different matter."

Free China with an estimated population of 450 millions has only 64,000 college students and 116,771 in high schools.

With Eugene Ormady absent, the Philadelphia orchestra on CBS at 3:30 will be under the direction of Bruno Walter in the first of two guest appearances.

"My Maryland," as honoring the birth anniversary of Abraham Lincoln, is the presentation of the Chicago Theater of the Air on MBS at 9. Col. R. R. McCormick's talk will continue the Lincoln theme.
All networks have just announced that they will broadcast at 4:30 p. m. the ceremonies in which President Roosevelt as commander-in-chief is to present the destroyer escort Sengals to the French people. The acceptance will be by Vice Adm. Bernard, chief of the French naval mission to the United States.

N. B. C. Specials
A couple of specials for NBC are these: At 3:30 first anniversary of the women's reserve of the marine corps, program to come from Washington and Hollywood; 11:15 annual dinner of the Veteran Wireless Operators association, David Sarnoff and others.
For the second of the Archibald MacLachlan series, American Story at 7 NBC is to put on "The Discoverers." Here's to Youth, NBC at 1 p. m., is to present "Latchkey Children."

A special addition to the schedule of NBC in the hour at 2 p. m. Saturday, broadcast from both Moscow and Hollywood, the Russian artists and composers, Shostakovich and Prokofiev are to be heard. They are to perform Shostakovich's "piano concerto" with the composer directing the orchestra and Prokofiev piano soloist.

Sunday Specials
Last of the networks to devote a day's schedule to bond broadcasting will be the Blue on Sunday, 8 a. m. to 1 a. m. Every program is to be dedicated to the sale of bonds, including a special war bond rally by the Hall of Fame at 6 p. m. which will move to Philadelphia for that purpose. The theme of the day is "over the top."
The Upton Close commentary on NBC Sunday afternoon is being extended from fifteen minutes to half an hour and will go on at 3. Close also is heard on MBS at 6:30.

Contributions to the day's music include: Dr. Arthur Rodzinski conducting the New York Philharmonic, CBS at 3. In Tchaikovsky's "Patetique"; Leopold Stokowski and the NBC symphony on NBC at 5 in a premiere of "Symphony No. 4" by George Antheil; More Tchaikovsky music by the Cleveland Symphony, MBS at 9. Dr. Frank Black conducting.
Discussion times: MBS 12 noon Reviewing Stand "Food for Europe"; NBC 1:30 p. m. University of Chicago Roundtable; CBS 1:45 Joseph Keenan on "Aircraft Labor Situation."

Features of We the People on CBS at 7:30 are to include Justice William C. Douglas on war bonds and the presentation of an aviation award. Teresa Wright will be a guest of Walter Pidgeon in "Pride of the Yankees" for CBS at 8. This is the second in the new dramatic series which is offering listener competition to Charlie McCarthy.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

AN EMANCIPATOR NEEDED
HUNDREDS of thousands of bridge players would be better off if someone would come along and free them from the habit of not noticing the size of the "unimportant" cards played on the different tricks. While they remain as they are, they are easy meat for the canny manipulator who takes advantage of the fact that they are not looking closely. Many a trick can be stolen from them because of their laziness.

Hand diagram showing a bridge hand layout with cards: ♠ 9 8 7 3 2, ♥ 5 4, ♦ 8 4, ♣ 8 7 3 2. Opponent's hand: ♠ A Q 10 8, ♥ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2, ♦ A Q 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2, ♣ A Q 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2.

South played low from the dummy to West's lead of the spade 3, and the Q went on, South ruffing. Seeing a sure thing for his contract, the declarer planned at once how he would later try for the extra trick. First he ran all of the

When a player makes a pre-emptive bid of four in a major suit, what particular other suit does he probably fear? In other words, what suit is he probably trying to shut out of the bidding?

NEW YORK. Feb. 11 (AP)—The stock market ran into profit taking today, after a week of fairly strong recoveries centering on rails and specialties.

Two weeks of rather substantial reaction had put the market in a much healthier technical condition and, when General Motors surprised Wall Street by lifting its dividend from 50 cents to 75 cents, customers generally returned to the buying ranks after Monday's stumble.

Transfers totalled 844,700 shares compared with 860,080 yesterday. Among favorites Kansas City Southern preferred and Pullman touched new 1943-44 peaks. Holding modest improvement were Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, U. S. Rubber, Boeing, Glenn Martin, Johns-Manville and Western Union "A".

Talk of a whiskey dividend for Park and Tilford revived and this issue jumped 2 points at the last to 75½, and Dunhill International was up ½.

In the losing column were Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Anaconda, International Harvester, DuPont and Standard Oil (N.).

Americans Must Keep Country American, Mundi Tells Republicans

Days Coming Election Will Determine Whether Government of People Is To Continue

Asserts Issue Is Clearly before Country on Record and Philosophy of the New Deal

American citizens must decide this year whether America shall remain American or plunge into fascism, Representative Karl Mundi, of South Dakota, declared here last night.

The issue is clearly before the country on the record and the philosophy of the New Deal, Mundi said in a stirring address at the largest Lincoln day dinner ever held here by Republicans, which took place in the dining hall of the Queen City hotel under auspices of the Republican State Central Committee for Allegany County.

It was a capacity crowd, tickets having been limited to 350 by reason of wartime conditions, and committeemen said more could have been sold. Turkey with "Republican dressing" comprised the chief dish of the menu.

"The coming election," Mundi said, "will determine whether this government is to continue as a government of the people or whether the people are to be directed by the government."

Fascism is wrapped up in the philosophy of the New Deal, Mundi declared in defining the difference between it and Republican theory. Sailing under the banner of liberalism, Mundi said, the New Deal is "the most reactionary scheme of government ever attempted in this nation," being a system whereby control of the people is centralized in the capital under the domination of a single man or a chosen few.

Capacity Crowd Tells
The school boys tell us that, the speaker declared, wherever they also define liberalism, in the words of Thomas Jefferson as the form which becomes best by governing the least.

The speaker brought forth a round of laughter in wryly observing that Jefferson had been replaced by Harry Hopkins as the present patron saint of the Democratic party.

Mundi recalled that in a speech he made in 1938 in Chicago that the underlying philosophy of the New Deal is "unrestricted government control over everybody," and since then, he said, events have amply proved the truth of those five words.

There is plenty of proof in the record, Mundi declared, a record so long that it would take three hours in which to detail it, and he regretted that his early leaving on a train prevented him from giving his audience the whole list.

Courageous Congress Essential
But he pointed to the old N. R. A., the attempted packing of the supreme court, the reorganization bill, which sought to remove the controller general and thus put a stop to unlimited spending, the purges and now the smear.

The New Deal attempted to smear him, Mundi said, but he was glad of it for on each attempt he was returned to the House by larger and larger majorities.

The preservation of this republic as a government of the people through law as against a government by an indispensible man, Mundi said, depends largely upon a courageous Congress reflecting the desires of the people instead of an aggregation of rubber stamps reflecting the wishes of a master.

In this connection the speaker congratulated the people of this congressional district, "the strongest Republican spot in a soon-to-be Republican Maryland," for sending J. Glenn Beall to Washington as an exponent of the real American liberalism.

"He is not afraid ever to stand up and be counted," Mundi said, "and he is always there when the roll is called and prepared to give a decision as the result of painstaking study of the issue or case involved."

In paying tribute to Lincoln Mundi said that every great movement has behind it some outstanding person and that Lincoln, who had done so much to preserve the union, to promote the dignity of the common man, and uphold and strengthen government by law as against government by man, ideally represents the Republican cause wherein he truly is the patron saint of the party.

Free Enterprise Essential
"It is traditional of Republican thought," Mundi said, "that the system of free enterprise must be maintained here—otherwise our freedoms will vanish."

The growing trend into socialism was emphasized by notation that Uncle Sam is the biggest banker, insurance company, employer and farm operator in this city and county as he is throughout the country.

The attempt to change the name of the New Deal to a Doctor Win-the-War is a flop, the speaker declared, because the winning of the war is not and can never be a political issue.

MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

According to an Associated Press dispatch from London, Corp. David H. Dom, 223 Massachusetts avenue, Cumberland, was among Marylanders attending a reunion of overseas men from the District of Columbia, Virginia and Maryland, held at the American Red Cross Club in London recently.

B. & O. To Unveil 7600 Mallet Type Engine Next Week

First of 20 Is Expected To Arrive Here Latter Part of the Week

A new type mallet locomotive with greater sustained horsepower, obtained through the use of a bigger boiler and firebox, and driving wheels of sixty-four inch diameter to give greater speed, is expected to make its appearance in Cumberland the latter part of next week, Harry P. Wyatt, superintendent of the Cumberland division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, announced yesterday.

Wyatt said that he has been advised that the first of an order of twenty of the new 7600 type locomotives will roll out of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, on Monday and after tests are conducted the latest edition of giant engines will be placed in service between Brunswick, Md., and Grafton, W. Va.

Order Placed Last March
The order for the new locomotives was placed with the Philadelphia manufacturers in March, 1943.

Mallet locomotives have been used principally in hauling heavy coal trains between Cumberland and Grafton and Cumberland and Fairmont, W. Va., for many years. A few are now in operation between Cumberland and Somerset, Pa.

Flexibility with great size and strength is attained in the mallet, and two or three separate engines or separate trucks, each operating its own set of drivers. There are now about seventy-eight mallets in the company's service west of Cumberland. The largest ones now in use are the 7300 type. These locomotives are repaired and overhauled at the local round house and back shops.

The wheel arrangement of the new locomotives will be 2-8-8-4 compared to 2-8-8-0 on the present type. The new type locomotive driving wheels will be sixty-four inches in diameter as against fifty-eight inches for the present type.

Tender Will Be Larger
Greater mileage between stops for servicing also is assured by the larger tender with its capacity of twenty-five tons of coal and 22,000 gallons of water. The maximum capacity of the old type tenders is about twenty-two tons of coal and 18,000 gallons of water.

Tenders will be welded and the equipment will include feed water heaters, super-heaters, syphons, low water alarms and mechanical lubrication.

History of the mallet dates back to 1904. It was in that year that the first mallet was built in America and was placed in operation on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Sectional Snow Storms Catch Western Maryland In Pincers Movement

Blanketing forces of snow storms sweeping the Middle West and Northeast caught Western Maryland in a pincers movement yesterday and last night. The week's mild spell whipped itself down to an average thirty degree atmosphere during the night in the Cumberland area and the prognosticating ground-hog whispered "I told you so."

Although the snow fall yesterday in Allegany county, particularly in Cumberland, was a process of "now you see it, now you don't," the approximate three-inch covering on highways was enough to bring forth an emphatic warning from the state police that persons should not travel... even if they have to.

Roads in all directions were reported dangerous by the L. and A. Bus Company which was having difficulty in meeting schedules. The Blue Ridge Lines and B. and O. trains were running on time, however.

Leo T. Downey, chief engineer of the Sixth district, Maryland State Roads Commission, stated last night that state road crews were clanking roads all day yesterday and would continue to do so during the night and early morning wherever necessary. In the four western counties, forty-six trucks were used yesterday, he added.

The Associated Press in Baltimore reported combined snow and sleet caused the Maryland State Police to issue warning against travel on ice-covered highways in practically every section of the state last night and the United States Weather Bureau predicted that highway conditions would show little improvement over the weekend.

Writ of Habeas Corpus Granted to T. A. Cline

Thomas Aloysius Cline, 30, of 112 Virginia avenue, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus against Sheriff David M. Steele in circuit court yesterday. The writ was issued as prayed by Associate Judge William A. Huster and a hearing set for 10 a. m. on February 15.

Cline, who alleged that he is being illegally restrained of his liberty, is being held in the county jail for action of the April grand jury on a charge of raping his 14-year-old step-daughter on February 1.

He had waived a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., in trial magistrate's court on February 3 and was committed to jail in default of $200 bond. Edward J. Ryan is his attorney.

322,100 Surgical Dressings Made Here by Red Cross Volunteers

Mrs. Charles L. Kopp, Chairman, Reports 1,700 Are Completed Daily

Volunteer workers of the Surgical Dressing group of the Allegany County chapter of the American Red Cross have completed 322,100 surgical dressings for the armed forces since the project began in August 1942, Mrs. Charles L. Kopp, co-chairman of the group, announced yesterday.

The county production is part of the one billion dressings, made by Red Cross volunteers for wounded American servicemen in war theaters over the world, which have been shipped to army medical depots during the past two years.

An average of 1,700 surgical dressings are made in this county each day by 350 volunteer workers organized in seventeen classes sponsored by the chapter.

Nine of the classes are located in this city, three in Frostburg, one in Barton, one in Westernport and the other three in Lonaconing, Mrs. Kopp said.

The four types of dressings which have been made by the group are two by two inch surgical sponges, four by four sponges, four by eight sponges and combination eight by ten pads.

From August 1942 until November 17, 1943, 302,100 dressings were made and shipped to army depots in Richmond, Va.; New Cumberland, Ohio, and Louisville, Ky.

Since January 24, when the present project began, 20,000 dressings have been made and all classes are meeting or exceeding their quotas. The January 24 quota is 68,400 dressings.

Praising the work of the volunteer workers, Red Cross authorities cited the fact that all the instructors and virtually all the personnel have worked on the project since its beginning and that the attitude of the skilled and experienced workers and instructors have been responsible for the smooth production in the county.

C. & P. Copper Goes To National Pool

Replaced Line from Clear-spring to Cumberland Nets 125 Tons

Sixty tons of copper were used in building the final link of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company's storm proof cable between Clearspring and Cumberland while the dismantling of the replaced open-wire line netted 125 tons to the nation's pool, according to Lloyd B. Wilson, president, in his annual report to directors of the company.

The report also disclosed the following facts:
That the company had 13,600 applications for service pending at the close of the year.

Net gain in telephones in Maryland was 18,757.
Number of telephones in service at the end of the year, 396,000.
Number of local and toll calls, 538,000,000.
Operating taxes amounted to $4,544,027.
Employees at the end of the year numbered 6,262.
Payroll amounted to $12,263,667.
Five hundred and ninety-seven men and women were on leave of absence serving in the armed forces.

Thirteen public telephone centers with about 100 stations and a staff of 100 attendants were installed at various military and naval establishments.

Tasker G. Lowndes, of Cumberland, was among the directors re-elected for the ensuing year.

Local Boy Injured In Sledding Accident

Injured when the sled he was riding crashed against a truck at the intersection of Fairview avenue and Dilly street yesterday afternoon, George Reynolds, 8-year-old son of Mrs. Eva Reynolds, 507 Dilly street, was admitted to Allegany hospital for observation. Attaches, who described his condition as "good," said that he was suffering from bruise and contusions of the back.

According to Officer J. C. Stouffer, who investigated, the boy was coasting down Dilly street when he ran against the running board of a truck driven by Edward Shober, of 530 Columbia street, at the intersection of Dilly street and Fairview avenue at 4:45 p. m.

Shober, who was driving on Fairview avenue, took the injured boy to the hospital. Stouffer said. No charges were placed against the driver.

Soldier Asks Jury Trial On Attack Charge

Following the accused's request for a jury trial in circuit court, charges of assault with intent to wound against Pvt. Frank Metz, of Ridgeles, were removed from trial magistrates court where a hearing had been scheduled before Magistrate Frank A. Perdue.

Metz, who is represented by Edward J. Ryan, is accused of attacking Roscoe E. "Doc" Radcliffe, crippled Ridgeley newsboy, January 6, Fort Hill, Okla., army authorities have given permission to have the case tried in Allegany county courts.

Boy Scout Bond Sales Hit $5,800 For Single Day

District Canvass Nets 340 Applications, $14,150 in Three Days

Boy Scouts of Cumberland district continued to prove that they are super salesmen when it comes to selling war bonds judging from the third day's report on the house-to-house canvass issued last evening by Bradley S. Kehoe, chairman of the Bond Sales committee of the Cumberland Mercantile Bureau.

Members of ten troops canvassing their respective service areas yesterday from 5 to 8 p. m., received a total of 168 allocations for $5,800 worth of bonds for the best single day's performance of the week.

A total of 340 applications have been reported in the three-day drive and bond sales amounted to $14,150 at 8:30 p. m. yesterday at the close of business in bond headquarters at Montgomery Ward and Company's store.

Orders are still rolling in," Kehoe declared. "In fact they've been coming in so fast today that we can't keep up with the salesmen and we'll not be able to give a complete report until Monday evening."

Predicts $16,000 Sale
The mercantile bureau chairman stated that at closing time his staff still had 150 more bonds to write, and he predicted that by Monday evening the sales will jump close to the $16,000 mark.

Ninety per cent of the sales credited to the scouts represents $18,750 bonds. One $1,000 bond, three $500 bonds and a few $100 and $50 bonds are listed among the 340 transactions completed as of last evening.

Troop No. 13, of the First Presbyterian church, has sold the largest percentage of bonds while Troop No. 4, of Centre Street Methodist church holds the runner-up position. A close race for individual honors is being waged by William Hiner, of Troop No. 15, of Fort Hill high school, and John Diggs, of Troop No. 4.

Four teams of bond writers are engaged in handling applications received by the scouts. Members of the teams include: Edward Nael and Miss Hilda O'Neal, Mark Lazarus and Miss Esther Stakem, Mrs. Norman E. Goldblatt, Miss Maxine Shapiro and Miss Getty Jane Knepper, and Aden L. Everstine and Mrs. Bradley S. Kehoe. At the store Chairman Kehoe is being assisted by Miss Barbara Croyle.

Drive Ends Tuesday
The Fourth War Loan drive will continue through Tuesday and scouts obtaining bond applications over the weekend are advised to report to their scoutmaster or Kehoe.

Residents missed during the three-day drive may place their orders for bonds by calling telephone 3700 and arrangements will be made to have the Boy Scout troop assigned to that area credited with the sale.

HENRY GROWDEN DIES IN TOLEDO, OHIO

Henry Ward Growden, 74, a former resident of Bedford, Valley, Pa., died at his home in Toledo, Ohio, yesterday morning.

A son of the late Joseph and Sarah Growden, he lived near Centerville, Pa., until he moved to Toledo about forty years ago. He was a member of the Lutheran church.

Surviving are his widow, the former Miss Fannie Wertz, of Bedford, Pa.; four children; Jay Growden, Toledo, Mrs. Catherine Baker in the armed services, and two other daughters.

Keyser Soldier Is Now in New Guinea

Mrs. Minnie Riley, of Route 3, Keyser, W. Va., has received word that her son, Pvt. Marvin E. Boyce, has arrived somewhere in New Guinea.

Mrs. Riley has three other sons in the service. Pvt. Loun M. Boyce, who entered the service, January 26, 1942, is stationed at Fort McClellan, Ala.; Pvt. Arthur A. Boyce has been in Newfoundland for the past two years; and Corp. Paul E. Boyce, Camp Pickett, Va., who is just recovering from pneumonia.

She also has a son-in-law in the service, he is Staff Sgt. Francis Seabolt who is somewhere in England.

Other Local News On Pages 5, 7 and 8

TO SPEAK HERE—United States Senator Millard E. Tydings will make two addresses in Cumberland next Thursday, speaking at a joint meeting of the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs in Central Y.M.C.A. at 12:15 p. m. and at the Women's Civic club in Emmanuel Episcopal church parish house at 2 p. m. Senator Tydings will discuss "The Present and the Future of National Problems" at the joint meeting of the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs and will discuss "Postwar Problems" in his address before the Women's Civic club.

Buying Bonds Is Postwar Planning, Smith Declares

Chamber Secretary Says Money Invested Now Will Reap Dividends

Investing in war bonds is one of the most important factors in postwar planning, Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, told a radio audience in a broadcast last evening over station WTBO.

Discussing his recent tour of the country for the purpose of stimulating sales, he related that he saw a young man step up and place an order for a $1,000 bond.

Curious to know just why he was making this purchase, Smith, upon questioning the young man, discovered that he was an employee of one of our manufacturing plants; that he had been in the army and received an honorable discharge because of his age and some physical defects.

Knew Cost of War
"He knew the need for equipment and the tremendous amount of money required to conduct this war," Smith declared. He had been a steady worker and he had been thrifty, so that he was prepared to make this purchase. And he said that after he talked with his wife he expected to purchase another bond of the same amount. He was buying these bonds because he felt it was the best investment he could make."

When asked if he had any plans for using these funds after the war, the purchaser revealed that he did have very definite plans. He was going to build a house that he had been dreaming of for many years, and this money which was now assisting in winning the war would later enable him to build that house for which he had been planning.

"There was a specific case of individual postwar planning," Smith asserted.

Emphasizing postwar planning, the speaker stated that surveys made indicate that in Cumberland 1,155 people will buy automobiles immediately after the war; 600 plan to buy new washing machines; 1,200 feel that they need new radios, and so on through the list of household appliances.

440 Will Build Homes
A total of 3,900 home owners in Cumberland said that if the war ended tomorrow they almost certainly would make some sort of improvements or repairs to their properties within six months, he said. Four hundred and forty expect to follow the plan of the bond-buyer and build new homes.

"There is no better way of doing your postwar planning than to put as much money as you can now into these government securities," the speaker concluded.

Rubber Workers Do Not Want Communist Aid

In clarifying its position in regard to the Communist party, Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America, in a statement issued yesterday, merely quoted a clause in its constitution which denies membership to persons who are affiliated with Communist, Nazi or Fascist parties.

"Membership shall be denied to any individual who is proven to be a member of or is in any way affiliated with the Communist, Fascist or Nazi parties or any other organization that has for its purpose the overthrow of our democratic form of government."

The statement, which referred to statements credited to "Hardy Scott, who it is claimed is a representative of the Communist party," declares that Scott, or any other purveyor of his political philosophy will receive no aid from Local 26.

The statement, authorized at a recent meeting of the local, was released by John F. Chisholm, chairman of the legislative committee of the local.

Registrar Takes Oath

Anne L. McCleary took the oath of office of registrar for the city of Cumberland in the office of the clerk of circuit court here yesterday.

Central Atlantic Area "Y" Official Will Visit City

Edward R. Tomb To Explain New Program and View "Rec" Activities

Edward R. Tomb, associate secretary of the Central Atlantic Area of the Y.M.C.A., with headquarters in Newark, N. J., will visit Cumberland, February 18 and 19, for the purpose of viewing activities of the "Rec" club and explaining the proposed youth and government program which will be launched in Maryland in the near future.

Everett R. Johnson, general secretary of the local "Y", has been advised by Central Atlantic Area headquarters that many other communities are interested in the manner in which Cumberland has provided a program for youths of high school age and Tomb is being sent here to make an inspection of activities conducted by the "Rec" club.

While in Cumberland, Tomb will meet with a group of school leaders, including principals of the high schools in this area, to outline the youth and government program, which is rapidly spreading throughout the country.

Directors of the Y.M.C.A. will meet Monday, February 21 at 7:30 p. m., at which time the nominating committee, headed by Dr. Frank U. Davis, will present a report and officers will be elected for the ensuing year. Present officers are John J. Robinson, president; Victor D. Heisey and the Rev. Alfred J. Craeger, vice presidents; Lloyd Rawlings, corresponding secretary, and James W. Bishop, treasurer.

The board comprises thirty directors, including Milton Bernstein, Alexander R. Buchanan, Mrs. Potter D. Collins, William J. Edwards, F. Lee Fresh, Mrs. William Somerville, James E. Spitznagel, Joseph K. Trenton, William C. Walsh and Mrs. Ethel Zimmerman, who were elected last month.

Article by Hitchins On Beall High School Featured in Magazine

An article by Robert Holt Hitchins, Cumberland architect, accompanied by pictures and floor plans of the new Beall high school building in Frostburg is featured in the latest issue of "Architectural Concrete," published by a nationally-known cement association.

The three-page spread contains five excellent views of the school building as well as the layout plan on each floor.

Hitchins explains that the Frostburg school was his first architectural building and to be sure of the results he set up a four-point program of design and construction that was followed to the letter by F. F. Bendik, Uniontown, Pa., contractor.

The writer states that the contract price of the building complete without school equipment was $415,500, or about thirty cents a cubic foot. This figure, he says, is relatively low for fireproof construction in this region, for it is generally conceded that most other buildings erected in Allegany county have cost between 32 and 35 cents a cubic foot.

Donald Admits Striking Lashbaugh, Harris Says

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, announced yesterday afternoon that William Donald, 35, Lonaconing miner, admitted that he struck John Lashbaugh, 48-year-old Lonaconing coal miner, who was killed in a one-blow fight in the Friendly tavern, Union street, Lonaconing, Thursday.

Donald, who the state's attorney said is charged with murder, was taken to the county jail Thursday evening and was questioned yesterday at the state's attorney's office.

Nothing new has developed as a result of the questioning of six other witnesses at the state's attorney's office, Harris added.

The state's attorney said last Thursday evening that Donald hit Lashbaugh one blow with his fist on the right side of the head in a dispute over a pickle.

Dr. Liline H. Corson, county deputy medical examiner, after performing an autopsy, added that death was due to a concussion of the brain and that Lashbaugh died within several minutes after the blow was struck.
